Ball State University: One Ball State Day

Name a Ball State Goose

Every year, hundreds of Ball State Geese are born nameless, wandering aimlessly through campus in search of identity. For years, this has been a problem that has gone unsolved, leading to an at-times contentious relationship between the geese and our student body. For just $19.18 to the Ball State fund, you can personally give one of these beautiful creatures a name. This act of good faith will not go unnoticed, as you will receive a personal Ball State digital certificate recognizing this selfless act.

Indiana State University: Give To Blue Day

Adopt a Sycamore Squirrel $10,000 Challenge

50 donors to the Theater Department will unlock a $10,000 gift from Billy Joe and Nerissa Jay to the Summer Theater. Are you nuts about ISU? Do you have fond memories of feeding campus squirrels fries from George's? What about hearing those little critters run across the roof of your classroom? This year for Give to Blue Day, you can bring a part of your Sycamore experience home by symbolically adopting a Sycamore Squirrel! For only $25, you will symbolically adopt a squirrel, and in exchange, you will receive a Certificate of Adoption and an authentic photo of a squirrel on the Indiana State University campus! Adoption donations go to support the Department of Theater who spends many hours listening to the squirrels run across the roof of the New Theater, feeding the squirrels during rehearsal breaks, and, on occasion, even dresses as squirrels for productions.

Protect and Preserve the Student-Athlete Experience

The RAD48 Athletics giving day is where the Highlander Club and the rest of Highlander Nation come together to demonstrate their pride in Radford Athletics. Here, you can choose your preferred area of impact to protect and preserve the athletic experience for our student-athletes.

Recent Athletics' history has featured outstanding competition and championship performances by several teams along with amazing academic performances from our student-athletes. As costs such as travel, equipment, and gear continue to rise, increased funding in vital areas will help our athletes continue to compete at the highest levels and get the most out of their athletic experience.

Areas of impact

You can support Radford Athletics and impact the lives and experiences of our student-athletes by giving to a specific sport, Athletic Training, Strength and Conditioning, our Cheer and Dance teams, and/or funds that benefit all athletic areas.

During RAD48, you will be able to pick the unit you are most passionate about and support their unique funding priorities that span a number of areas such as:

- Nutrition/Wellness – helps our students access healthy food choices and promotes the complete wellbeing of our athletes.
- Travel – travel support enhances the student travel experience from transportation to accommodations.
- Gear – helps our athletes represent the Highlander spirit near and far, while enabling them to perform at the highest levels.
- Technologies – help our athletes evaluate and improve their performance.
- Scholarship – scholarship support helps our coaches recruit the most talented athletes that

Emory University: 2036 Giving Week

This year's 2036 Giving Week was one to remember! Whether you were motivated by Wonderful Wednesday and scored a sweet skateboarding Swoop sticker or vied for your cause to top the leaderboards, your gift during 2036 Giving Week directly supports students.

You joined a community of more than 2,300 donors that raised more than $245,000 to help Emory students flourish. Together, you contributed:

- $35,000 to scholarship and fellowship funds

- $51,000 to student services and campus experiences
- $80,000 to academic departments and centers

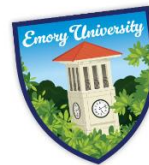

Your investment in these core areas accelerates the success of students and elevates the campus experience.

Every gift to Emory matters, especially yours.

A special thank you to Advancement Volunteers who used our digital toolkit and raised $56,295.75 through 1,315 total gifts – that's more than double the gifts received during our inaugural 2036 Giving Week last year.
